

WAVE Newsletter - December 2018

Thank you for taking part in both WAVE events in Glasgow !

EACS-WAVE joint session: "What Women Want" HIV Glasgow, October 31, 2018

Over 500 people attended our joint session.

We received a very positive feedback, for presenting clinical cases with active voting and for selecting three young scientists to present their work devoted to WLWH. Please follow the link to find out more.

WAVE Working Committees cornerstone meeting HIV Glasgow, October 30, 2018

28 WAVE members have worked in groups to define goals to achieve and identify tasks for the near future. The proposals of planned actions as well as suggestions of collaborations will be soon published on groups.io and a summary document circulated among all members via e-mail.

WAVE news

We would like to welcome Prof. Yvonne Gilleece, who was unanimously selected as a new SC member. We are happy to have you on board, Yvonne!

The next WAVE workshop will be held at the 17th European AIDS Conference, in Basel, Switzerland. We are keen to give our working committees the opportunity to have their next face-to-face meeting to outline their first initiatives and future plans. Should you have any suggestions regarding the workshop, please contact Karoline Aebi-Popp.

How to be a WAVE member or to join the WAVE Working Committees?

If you are registered as an EACS member, contact WaveSecretariat[at]eacsociety.org to join WAVE or WWC. It is free.

Don't forget to answer the survey you will receive! It is your formal consent to be a WAVE member.

We will keep you updated on the WAVE activities through dedicated WAVE newsletters and posts on groups.io.

Best wishes,

Justyna Kowalska / Karoline Aebi-Popp
